CENTRE COUNTY TEACHERS.

Their 59th Annual Institute Now in Session.

IN THE COURT HOUSE.

Superintendent David O. Etters is Presiding at this His First Institute—Able Corp of Instructors.

SESSIONS ARE BEING WELL ATTENDED

The fifty-ninth annual session of the Teachers' Institute was called to order at 2.10 Monday afternoon by County Superintendent D. O. Etters, the first over which he will preside. After the Invocation by the Rev. A. J Davideon it was formally opened and in a short speech Mr. Etters invited the co-operation of the teachers in making a success of the institute. He then introduced the first speaker of the afternoon Dr. D. C. Murphy; of Slippery Rock, Pa. He chose as his theme "The Fitness For Teaching." After speaking about the definition, or the real meaning of teaching he spoke of the requisites of a teacher. "Not the strength of a Sampeon; the patience of a Job, the wisdom of a Solomon, nor the goodness of an Angel; but all these requisites in measure moulded in one individuality." He discussed the need of scholarship but declared that alone it could not fit any person for teaching any more than much doctoring would fit a person for the study of medicine. Tact was another power desirable if not necessary in this work This he illustrated by several amusing anecdotes.

DAVID O. ETTERS,
Superintendent of the Schools of Centre County.

Flexibility of Character he also dwelt upon as being of great value to every instructor. But with all these attainments was needed confidence in self or success could never be attained. This he supported by true statements of his own educational work with teachers, after which he closed his address.

The second speaker of the afternoon was Prof. C. H. Alberts of Bloomsburg, Pa. He started out by saying that not for nine years had he been in attendance at a Centre Co. institute, and called to remembrance the pranks of certain members who then attended, but were absent at this writing.

He then asked the teachers for which of three purposes they were in attendance. For mere pleasure, for money interest, or for the purpose of being benefitted by the exercises. He declared the fundamental purpose of school was to enable the scholars to think And called the attention of those present to the statement of Dr. Holmes that a person began to attend school about 200 years before he was born. He said that study was the application of the mind to any given problem whatever that might be; and that thinking was seeing relation. Life itself is only a school which determines the Eternal destiny of mankind and he demonstrated the great duty of living right in the case of a school teacher, as they were to impress the lives of others. This finished his address.

The musical program was ably conducted by Prof. Philip H. Meyer, many songs being sung during the afternoon. Miss Bessie H. Dorworth, of Bellefonte, presiding at the piano in excellent style and giving general satisfaction. There was no roll call Monday but there is a full attendance of teachers, there being about 293 in the county.

Shortly after 4 o'clock the institute adjourned until 9 o'clock Tuesday morning.

Promptly at nine o'clock Tuesday morning the institute was called to order, and the day was opened by singing "All Hail The Power Of Jesus' Name." This was followed by responsive reading and Invocation by Rev. Ambros M. Schmidt. Rev. C. T. Aikens than gave a short speech in which he stated the great advance made in educational matters, while Centre Co., he affirmed would compare favorably with any County in the state. Also calling the attention of those present to the many advantages of the Susquehana University at Selinsgrove Pa., of which he has the honor of being President. Rev. Schmidt then delivered an address on "The Teacher—A Character—Builder." Teaching, he said is a vocation rather than a profession.

Truth in his sight was a cube, every side, being but one phase of the whole. grew as a flower developes from day to day. One of the great epochs in the life of an individual is the start to school. Henceforth the teacher is to take the place of the parent in directing the course of the young life. He conceived every human being as possessing a 'Divine Plan' which was to be developed or marred by the teacher into whose hand the person is surrended. As molten metal is Men are borne, but Character is made or the mind of a child, capable of being conformed to any shape; which in maturity would harden into steel. In order to have the best success, the teacher should become a sympathetic friend of each pupil. Ever ready to listen to and encourage the young mind and heart. When any instructor gains the confidence of the child the greatest battle would be overcome.

Prof. C. H. Albert then spoke of the fundamentals of teaching; in accord with his address of Monday afternoon. He said that the manufacture of great souls, of a good quality, should be the first aim of a great nation, wherefore it behoves the instructors of our nation to perform their duty to the very best of their ability.

"Teaching is the art of promoting human growth" and, "Art is the expression of mans' joyous work." How then could any person teach school without deriving joy therefrom, and without entering the work with their whole heart?

At eleven o'clock a recess of five minutes was allowed, after which Dr. D. C. Murphy held a short test in history. The following questions were asked by him, and afterward discussed.

Who wrote the Declaration of Independence? Who was the first signer? and how many persons signed the same?

What three persons were primarily responsible for the succes of the Revolutionary War? What battle did Gen. Gates win and what one did he lose? What two Presidents were chosen by the House of Representatives?

Which was first invented; the Atlantic steamer or the railroad?

What three dates mark important measures advocated by Henry Clay; and what were they?

What two events marked the turning points in the Civil war?

What two states have furnished the most presidents?

This occupied the time till twelve o'clock when institute adjourned.

At two o'clock Tuesday afternoon the meeting was called to order; Rev. Schmidt then gave a talk on the great value of deep breathing as applied to any person for protection against Pulmonary trouble of any kind.

Dr. Murphy then spoke of the critical moments in a school room. He suggested methods of regulation to be applied before school began, but after the doors were open; in the passage of classes, at intermissions, and when school was dismissed. Punishment he did not encourage except in so far as was absolutely necessary, and then always to benefit the pupils. Prof. Alberts then spoke of the application of methods to the every day work of the teacher. Graphically illustrating the meaning of sentences. and changing the entire meaning when reading by difference of inflection and emphasis.

The meeting was then adjourned to Wednesday morning at nine o'clock.

—It may be of interest to quite a few persons in Bellefonte to know that Harry P. Bush who has been away the past nine years, sailed from Valparaiso, Chile, on the 4th of October for America expecting to land on or about the 20th of November. Harry's business interests have been in Valparaiso for the past four year.

GOVERNOR IS BACK!

Returns to Harrisburg After Spending Sunday in Phoenixville.

COMING EXTRA SESSION

With State Officials and Senator S. P. White He Talks Over Proposed Reform Legislation.

NOT LIKELY TO INCREASE SUBJECTS

Harrisburg, Pa., November 14.—Governor Pennypacker returned to Harrisburg at Monday from a visit over Sunday at the home of United States Attorney Thompson at Phoenixville, and spent the afternoon in conference with state officials and Senator Samuel P. White, of Beaver county, on matters pertaining to the coming extra session of the legislature for the enactment of reform legislation.

Senator White's visit was for the purpose of urging the governor to issue a supplementary proclamation for an extra session so as to allow the legislature to enact a reform primary election law, which the senator said was as badly needed in the country districts as a personal registration law was needed in the cities. The governer promised to give this subject careful consideration if he should decide to to issue a supplemental call.

He has also been asked to include the extension of capitol park and ballot reform, but unless the governor changes his mind his present proclamation will stand and no other subjects than those mentioned in it will be considered by the legislature.

Many lawmakers have pledged the governor their support to carry out his programme and the indications now are that the session will be a harmonious one and will not extend over one month. Thomas H. Garvin, of Delaware, chief clerk of the house was here Monday arranging the details for the extra session.

The governor said Monday evening that the expense of this extra session is to be considered, but a reference to his veto messages will show that on one proposition he cut down the appropriation of $216,000 by disapproving a bill increasing the number of employes in the department of public buildings and grounds. He also said that the banks charge six per cent. while the state received only two, and that in his judgment the commonwealth should realize more out of its money. He believes the chances of passing the reform measures mentioned in his proclamation are much better at an extra than a regular session.

Opening of the Hunting Season.

Nearly 200 Centre county hunters went to the mountains Tuesday, fully equipped to open camp and be ready for the opening of the deer season Wednesday. Such an exodus of sportsmen has never been known before, a fact undoubtedly due to the shortness of the season this year.

As early as last Saturday deer hunting parties started for the mountains. Several went Monday, but Tuesday's exodus broke the record. In all twenty hunting clubs, running from five to twenty men, went into Allegheny Mountains and Seven Mountains from this county alone, while hunting parties from Philadelphia, Reading, Pittsburg, Punxsutawney, Clearfield, Altoona and Tyrone also went into camp on the Alleghenies today, so that 400 or 500 is a safe estimate of those who went out on the trail Wednesday.

Deer are reported very plentiful, and the opening should be auspicious, as there is slight tracking of snow on the mountains

Another Big Day in Williamsport.

A great football event will be witnessed in Williamsport on Saturday, November 18, 1905, when State College and Dickinson College will line up for another battle on the Seminary Field. Assurances have been given that this will be one of the liveliest games ever played between these colleges. Both teams will be at their best and those who witness the struggle between them will be well entertained. The usual excursion rates of one fare for round trip have been granted on the various railroads for a distance of one hundred miles. November 18 will be the greatest day Williamsport has seen for years.

IN OTHER COUNTIES.

Items of News Clipped or Gleaned from Our Exchanges.

Dorothy, the 1-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hartman of Williamsport, had a narrow escape from hanging Tuesday evening. While alone she attempted to get out of her crib and in some manner her head got between the bars. When discovered by her father she was nearly strangled. Her neck was wedged fast so tightly that the crib had to be broken apart to release her.

One night recently some person or persons broke into the general store of F. W. Bender, at Springs, a village about four miles southwest of Salisbury, Somerset county, and carried away clothing, shoes, knives and watches to the value of about $100. Entrance was gained to the building through a wareroom window, the sash of which was removed by chisels taken from the village blacksmith shop. There is no clew to the robbers.

What might have been a fatal accident befel Mrs. Oscar K. Brunner, wife of the proprietor of Hotel McKinley, Chambersburg, on Wednesday evening. Mrs. Brunner was directing the work in the kitchen at supper time. Unthinkingly she got to close to the range and her apron caught fire. Almost in an instant the skirt she wore was in flames and it seemed as though she must be seriously burned. Men from the hotel were summoned and extinguished the fire, but not before Mrs. Brunner had been seriously burned about the hands and arms and suffered greatly from the shock.

There has been seventy deaths in the borough of Clearfield since January 1st, 1905, not including hospital deaths.

Knowing How.

Until the mints of earth stop turning there will be money to measure merits says Success. When a lawyer can make two million dollars in a single fee; when doctor's can demand fifty thousand dollars for a twist of his wrist; when a violinist can get a thousand dollars for playing three tones in a private parlor, and a cook can demand twelve thousand a year, it must be taken as an incontestable fact that man's earning power will reach no bounds.

Never before was the world so exacting in its demands, or so willing to pay for what it wants. Some of the fees that are paid for consummations so devoutly wished are large enough to send a blush to the cheek of the man who invented money. It is all for the "knowing how." Pay me five dollars for amputating your leg," said Dr. F. Shrady, explaining large fees in the medical profession, "and $995 for knowing how." Another celebrated physician, a practitioner in Paris whose fee of $1,000 was questioned, was not so willing to explain. 'I havn't time to discuss my fees," he said. "Pay!" Another surgeon in San Francisco, who had just successfully operated for appendicitis, was pleased to hear his patient say on recovering from the effects of ether, "Doctor accept my check for $30,000 with my congratulations upon your knowing how to do the job. "The late Senator C. L. Magee said to Dr. Walter C. Browning, of Philadelphia, "I have made one million dollars while you kept the breath in my body, and I'm going to give you $150,000 as your fee." J. Pierpont Morgan once said, with characteristic emphasis, "Give me a man who will do this work, and there'll be no dispute about pay;" and it was the late Charles Broadway Rouse who stood ready to the day he died, to pay one million dollars to the man who would cure him of blindness,

There is a dragnet out in all the varied walks of life for "the man who knows how." The world stands ready to enrich a person for doing one thing, if he does that one thing well.

Fire at Shingletown.

On Friday evening about midnight the saw mill located in the gap back of Shingletown, Centre county, caught fire and was completely destroyed together with considerable lumber. It is supposed to have caught from sparks from the engine. The mill was owned and operated by Schenck and Smith of Howard. There was no insurance and the loss is estimated at $2000.

—The Ladies Aid society of the Presbyterian church have under way arrangements for a musical, to be given in the court house, Friday evening, November 17th, that should be a rare treat to all music lovers. Those from a distance who will take part are Miss Marie Stoddart, a musical artist of exceptional ability, of New York; Mr. Tollefsen, the violinist, of New York, and Mr. Daniels, pianist, Williamsport. Mr. John Hosterman, of this place, will sing one or more pieces. The price of admission will be but 50 cents.

THE RECORD OF DEATHS!

Those Who Have Been Called to Their Final Reward.

FROM CENTRE COUNTY

Death of George Long Sr., a Prominent Citizen of Howard-The Venerable Jacob Hicks is Dead.

ONE OF COUNTY'S OLDEST MEN.

Mr. George Long, an aged and highly respected citizen of Centre county, passed away at his home in Howard, Thursday evening, Nov. 2nd, 1905, after a prolonged illness of more than six months.

George Long was born at Snow Shoe, this county, nearly 79 years ago and belonged to a family of ten children, all of whom preceeded him to the eternal world but one sister and brother.

Until last spring Mr. Long enjoyed robust health, seldom requiring the service of a physician. About a week before his death he became paralyzed in his right side and remained in a helpless condition until the end came.

The deceased came to Howard when but a child of five years and spent his long and useful life here. As a citizen he was held in high esteem by all who knew him, and he was known all over the county. Mr. Long was a stone mason by trade, and such was his skill as a mechanic that his services were sought far and near.

When but nine years of age he was converted and soon thereafter joined the Methodist Episcopal church, remaining a faithful member of that communion until the day of his death. He filled every office in the gift of the church to laymen, and at the time of his death was a member of the board of trustees.

Mr. Long was thrice married and is survived by his third wife, Mrs. Annie Rothrock Long; one daughter, Mrs. Wm. Snank, of Bradford, Pa., one brother, John, of Bellefonte; one sister, Mrs. Mary Price, of Altoona; Seven grandchildren, and eight great grandchildren.

The funeral services were held in the Methodist Episcopal church at Howard, Sabbath morning at eleven o'clock, the pastor, Rev. E. M. Aeler, officating, assisted by Rev. J. F. Shultz, pastor of the United Evangelical church.

Interment was made in the cemetery at Bellefonte where Rev. J. A. Wood Jr., performed the last rites at the grave.—Howard Hustler.

JACOB HICKS

Jacob Hicks, one of the oldest residents of Stormstown, died at his home on Saturday morning, aged 82 years, of diseases incident to advanced age. Mr. Hicks was the last survivor of a family of thirteen, outliving all his brothers and sisters. His wife died three years ago. Their surviving children are Mr. James W. Peters, of Tyrone; Mrs. Ellis Williams, of Martha; Mrs. Harry McKelvey, of Jersey Shore; Mrs. Charles Thompson, of Loveville; and J. D. Hicks, of Stormstown.

A Hunting Accident.

Daniel Norris, his son Walker and James McKenzie, all of Juniata, formed a trio of hunters who went to Centre county on a hunting expedition last week. Their stamping grounds were about two miles from State College. Last Saturday they met with gratifying success, but the trip was suddenly ended by an accident of which Daniel Norris was the victim. He met with a friend who shot a load out of Mr. Norris's gun and was in the act of handing it back to him when the second barrel was accidently discharged, the contents striking Mr. Norris on one of his great toes, badly shattering it. The wound was dressed by Dr. Reilson, of State College. It is thought the toe may yet be saved. The party returned home on Sunday very much disgusted with the ending of the hunt, as they intended staying until Wednesday. The game was certainly coming their way as they had succeeded in bagging eighteen rabbits.—Tyrone Times.

HOW'S THIS FOR A BEAR STORY.

Physician Kept Prisoner for Two Day in a Dark Cave.

The following exciting bear sto comes from Snow Shoe: "Penned in a cave for two days by a big bear which he had shot and could not move, Dr. William Kurtz, of Howard, was a prisoner who gladly welcomed a searching party which came within sound of his voice. While imprisoned he killed two more bear cubs which had attacked him after their mother had been shot.

"Dr. Kurtz was hunting in the mountains between here and Howard when he found bear tracks leading into a cave. Determined to investigate, he crawled into the hole on his hands and knees to find inside it was of considerable size. His eyes had not become accustomed to the darkness before he heard the grunt of a bear, and saw two fiery eyes. As Bruin ran past him towards the mouth of the cave he fired and the bear fell, blocking the passage. The carcass was so heavy that, try as he would, the physician could not move it out of the way. Suddenly two cubs appeared and they too, were killed.

"For nearly two days Dr. Kurtz was compelled to remain in the cave. Fortunately he had taken with him a bounteous lunch. A searching party which started out to look for him tracked him in a light snow and heard his calls as they approached the cave. The bear weighs 375 pounds.—Altoona Tribune.

Racing Deafens Chauffeurs.

He had done in his 110 horse power car a mile in 39 seconds.

"Congratulations," said a young girl, as he got out.

"What?" said he.

"Congratulations"

He smiled and shook his head, "What?"

"I said 'Congratulations,' What is the matter with you? Are you deaf?"

But again he failed to hear her.

"In a few minutes," he said, "I'll be all right, I suppose it was the noise of the motor or the swift going—at any rate, I am enveloped in the most terrific tumult—a roar like the winds of a hundred storms—and I can't hear a word you say.

"I am always like this after a race," he continued. "For fifteen minutes or so I am as deaf as a post. Then gradually the roaring in my ears subsides and I begin to distinguish the sounds that occur aroound me. I see now lips moving and mouths a-jump, but I hear not a word.

"All men that race in heavy, powerful, detonating cars are deaf, like me, at their races end. I am unaware, though, of any chauffeur whose hearing has been permanently injured by racing."

The Academy Looses.

The Academy team crippled by the lose of Dubarry and McKeever put up a very poor article of foot ball on Saturday when it allowed the College High School team to defeat it 11-0. Some of the individual work was good, notably the tackling of Mosser, but there was no sign of teamwork. Verily this is the Academy's "off" year. May it be said to her credit, that it is the first off year she has had since she organized a team some fifteen years ago

Hudson----Ziegler.

Quite a fashionable wedding took place at 6 o'clock Thursday evening Nov. 2 at the home of Mrs. Henrietta Foster, of Philipsburg, the occasion being the marriage of her grand-daughter, Miss Henrietta Foster Zeigler to William C. Hudson, of Ashville, N. C. The house, which was thronged with invited guests, was beautifully decorated for the occasion.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. R. P. Miller, the of Presbyterian church. Mrs. F. C. Todd, a sister of the bride, was matron of honor, her only attendant, while the groom's best man was his brother, Horatio A. Hudson, of Ashville. Following a delicious wedding dinner Mr. and Mrs. Hudson departed on the night train on a brief wedding tour, and will be at home in Ashville after December first.

MUTINY'S HORRORS!

Cronstadt the Scene of Latest Outbreak

AMONG THE RUSSIANS

Soldiers and Sailors Join in Revolt and Fighting Ensues—10000 Troops are Engaged.

PEOPLE ARE FLEEING FROM THE CITY

Cronstadt, November 10—The heavens reflect the glare of smouldering fires as the Associated Press correspondent approached Cronstadt at 8 o'clock Thursday evening. Upon landing, however, inquiries revealed the fact that the troops and the loyal sailors had apparently the upper head. Fighting had ceased in the streets and the town was quiet, but fears were expressed that there might be further trouble later. Thursday night patrols were engaged in hunting down and capturing the mutineers.

The outbreak started Wednesday afternoon when the sailors of the "Seventh Fort Equipage" revolted and, it is rumored they killed some of their officers. They marched out of the barracks and immediately plundered four spirit shops. Crazed with liquor they returned and seized their arms and then went on the rampage firing upon the troops and loyal sailors. Later they were joined by many of their comrades and fighting continued from midnight until Friday morning when the terror stricken inhabitants began to flee. The lowest estimate place the number of dead at fifty.

Several regiments with eight machine guns from St. Petersburg and Oranienbaum were landed Thursday.

UHLAN CAVALRY REVOLTS.

St. Petersburg, November 10.—A force of Uhlan cavalry sent to Cronstadt from Peterhof is reported to have joined the insurgents. It is also reported that the artillerymen of the fortress have joined the insurgents.

The American Charge d'Affaires, Spencer Eddy, has telegraphed to the Governor of Cronstadt requesting protection for American interests there.

Reports from Cronstadt say that the navy club has been wrecked, that many shops have been burned and that a great crowd of rioters including sailors marched through the town shooting and otherwise terrorizing the population. People are fleeing from the city on board steamers for St. Petersburg. The clergy of Cronstadt have organized a procession hoping to prevent the spread of incendiarism and pillage.

THE HORROR INCREASES.

Later reports only magnify the horror of the situation. The mutiny was complete according to the latest report not only the sailors but the garrison of some of the forts joining in the insurrection. The few soldiers and sailors who are loyal fought all night against the mutineers and the workmen who enlisted under the banner of revolt. Barricades were thrown up.

The report that machine guns were used is apparently confirmed.

STREETS FLOW WITH BLOOD.

The panic stricken refugees who escaped by boat say the maxim guns were fired all night and that Friday morning the streets were literally flowing with blood. They place the number of dead and wounded far into the hundreds.

Friday two regiments of Cossacks and the Imperial Horse Guards were dispatched to Cronstadt from St. Petersburg and a regiment of Uhlans was sent there from Oranienbaub, a few miles west of Peterhof. Altogether about 10,000 troops are engaged in quelling the insurrection.

Reports in regard to the exact situation at Cronstadt are conflicting. According to some reports the sailors and strikers were finally surrounded but have not yet surrendered. Both sides have been losing heavily. The troops lost eight officers killed or wounded.

Other reports say Uhlans deserted to the mutineers and are now fighting against the imperial troops.

The Renewal a Strain.

Vacation is over. Again the school bell rings at morning and at noon, again with tens of thousands the hardest kind of work has begun, the renewal of which is a mental and physical strain to all except the most rugged. The little girl that a few days ago had roses in her cheeks, and the little boy whose lips were then so red you would have insisted that they had been "kissed by strawberries," have already lost something of the appearance of health. Now is a time when many children should be given a tonic which should avert such serious trouble, and we know of no other so highly to be recommended as Hood's Sarsaparilla, which strengthens the nerves, perfects digestion and assimilation, and aids mental development by building up the whole system.

GENTLEMEN OF ENGLAND.

How Their Claims Were Established In the Middle Ages.

A curious meeting was held in Lyons on Jan. 4, 1699. The royal commissioners solemnly sat in council to decide the question if lawyers and doctors could be regarded as gentlemen. It proved too hard a problem for the wise heads, and the doctors and lawyers themselves were summoned to prove their right to gentility. The matter was settled to the satisfaction of the professional parties.

In the middle ages of England heralds went through the counties to examine into the claims of landholders to be called gentlemen. There is in existence an interesting list of the disqualified, and one reads today the shame of a certain Thomas Robbins who failed to establish the title and was writ among the ignoble. Charles Anscote, a representative of one of the oldest families, is registered as "entitled to be styled a gentleman, although worth not more than £500."

Brooke, an old writer, has given the world his opinion of what constitutes a gentleman, and his definition has never been excelled:

"The character, or, rather, quality, of a gentleman does not in any degree depend on fashion or mode or state or opinion; neither does it change with customs, climates or ages. But, as the spirit of God alone can inspire it, so it is that quality of heart which is the same yesterday, today and forever."

FOREST RESERVE TEST.

How Black Hills Will Be Seeded With Pine Cones.

The Black Hills forest reserve, one of the most important of all reserves in the United States, is conducting a line of experiments which are resulting in one of the unique industries of the country, says a Deadwood (S. D.) dispatch.

It is Captain Bullock's plan to smooth over every burned spot in the reserve by seeding broadcast in the spring with pine cones. This experiment was made on thirty acres of ground last spring and yielded good results, producing one pine seedling to each square foot.

Captain Bullock has a large army of helpers, composed of the small boys of the Black Hills. They are gathering pine cones, for which they are paid by the forestry department 25 cents a bushel. As this pay is not very large, it becomes necessary for the boys to furnish a large amount to make the industry pay.

Under them in their efforts is a still larger army—that of the red squirrels. The squirrels are the greatest cone gatherers in the country, and so valuable are they that the bounty which has been offered by the forestry department for their pelts has been abolished, and instead these little animals are gathering some 1,200 bushels of cones, which will make about 1,500 pounds of seed.

The boys have already gathered 1,200 bushels of cones, which will make about 1,500 pounds of seed. They are not allowed to pick them, but gather them from the ground or from the squirrels' dens. As high as nine bushels of cones have been found in one den, and several of the holes of these little forest rangers have yielded up at least six bushels.

Freak of Society Women.

According to a Sixth avenue dealer in curios and antiques, New York society women have developed still another fad to employ their leisure moments and their pin money, says the New York correspondent of the Pittsburg Press. It is no less than making a collection of old clothes. Of course the clothes must have some historic value and been once worn by royalty or other famous personages. "I have a customer," said the dealer, "who occupies a prominent position in New York social circles, but whose name for obvious reasons I am not at liberty to mention, who has commissioned me to buy all the castoff corsets of famous women I can find. Queer idea, isn't it? She has given me practically a free hand in the matter as to price and selection. I have an agent in Europe who is constantly on the lookout for them, and every month or two he sends me over an addition to the collection."

Agricultural Experiment.

The agricultural department is going to try to fool nature, says a Washington dispatch to the New York American. It is projecting a series of tests to see if cabbage and beets and garden things cannot be made to grow as well under electric light as under the influence of the sun's rays. The idea is that with the use of the electric light and the heat it will give off the beds may be placed under conditions as favorable for the growth of fruit and vegetables in winter as in summer.

THE LIGHT OF OTHER DAYS.

Not very many years ago alcohol was used for lighting in combination with other fluids under the name of "Camphene," but it suffered banishment because it was too dangerous.

Alcohol is generally harmful when taken in the form of medicine, especially to a delicate system.

Dr. Pierce's tissue-rebuilding and function-strengthening plan of treatment is following after Nature's plan.

He uses natural remedies, that is native medicinal roots, prepared by processes wrought out by the expenditure of much time and money, without the use of alcohol, and by skillful combination in the most exact proportions.

Used as one of the active ingredients of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, BLACK CHERRYBARK specially exerts its influence in cases of lung and bronchial troubles, and this "DISCOVERY" is, therefore, a sovereign remedy for bronchitis, laryngitis, chronic coughs, catarrh and kindred ailments.

The names of the medicinal ingredients of this world-famous remedy are: Golden Seal root, Queen's root, Stone root, Black Cherrybark, Bloodroot and Mandrake root.

"I have had such a wonderful experience with Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery that I do not hesitate to recommend it, believing it to be a wonderful medicine to build up the tissues of the system," writes Miss Bessie Brown, Secretary Emerson Literary Association, 626 Kerman Avenue, Appleton, Wis. "Worry and nervous troubles had completely run-down my health and strength; had no appetite, slept badly, and was in a state of nervous collapse. I took twelve bottles in all, and, each week, knew that I was getting better and stronger, until finally I was as well and strong as I had ever been. I have the utmost faith and confidence in your medicine, and wish to thank you for my good health, which is a blessing to anyone."

For 21 one-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing, you can get a free copy of the "Common Sense Medical Adviser," paper-covers; or cloth-bound for 31 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets should be used with "Golden Medical Discovery" whenever a laxative is required.

A Modern Bluebeard

or the adventures of a Female Sherlock Holmes a realistic romance founded on fact by Fanny May. You who have been reading the daily papers can easily imagine how the thought came to the author's mind to write this story. Though purely a romance, many of its most sensational and dramatic scenes are based on fact. It is a startling expose of a wicked man's wiles. This realistic romance begins in No. 1644 of THE NEW YORK FAMILY STORY PAPER

A LAXATIVE Cough Syrup

THE NEW IDEA — THE ORIGINAL

The Red Clover Blossom and the Honey Bee on Every Bottle.

"A Cold or a Cough nearly always produces constipation—the water all runs to the eyes, nose and throat instead of passing out of the system through the liver and kidneys. For the want of moisture the bowels become dry and hard."

KENNEDY'S LAXATIVE HONEY AND TAR

Cures Colds by working them out of the system through a copious action of the bowels.

Cures Coughs by cleansing and strengthening the mucous membranes of the throat, chest, lungs and bronchial tubes.

For Croup, Whooping Cough, La Grippe, Influenza, Bronchitis, and all Coughs, Colds, Lung and Bronchial affections no remedy is equal to Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar. Children like it.

It's Dangerous To Doubt.

You have no right to doubt a thing that has been tested and found to rest on fact. Vin-te-na has cured so many people in so many parts of the country that it is really unjust to predict a failure in any case that has gone beyond the power of medicine.

Vin-te-na purifies the blood and makes the nerves strong and steady. It not only cures disease but safeguards the system against every form of germ disease. Most all diseases are rooted in the blood. Vin-te-na cures the very cause of all blood disorders by destroying the impurities in the blood and giving it purity and warmth. Get it and be strong.

TO LIVE A SIMPLE LIFE

Two Pennsylvanians Plan Formation of New Society.

MODERN LIVING TOO STRENUOUS

The Founders, Who Have Been Negotiating For a Tract of Land Near Fredericksburg, Md., Feel Confident of Success—All Must Work, Even Children—No Laggards to Be Tolerated.

Believing that life as it is lived in this twentieth century is too strenuous for the good we ought to get out of it and that the majority of us are existing rather than living with any degree of enjoyment, two well known men, James Hazlewood of Pittsburg and William Schlingmann of Crafton, Pa., have conceived the idea of forming a community where the residents will eat, sleep and work in perfect peace, says the Pittsburg Press. Every one connected with the community will work to get his or her food, clothes and lodgings, and no laggards will be tolerated.

The proposed association will be known as the Providence community and will be governed by a board of trustees elected by the members. It is said that the two founders have options on a large tract of land near Fredericksburg, Md., where the proposed community will be located, although as yet no deeds have been signed nor has any money been paid to bind the transaction. When the land is secured and the proselytes to the new school have migrated laws will be formulated calculated to regulate the actions of the simple livers. The basis for the rules governing the residents is the New Testament.

The new community will be planned after the one which for many years thrived at Economy, Pa., but it is proposed to manage it in an entirely different and more modern way. The promoters believe that modern methods applied to the scheme will make it entirely feasible and that it will be possible to carry it on, without the loss of either time or money, to the best advantage to the members, and, they say, it may be made so strong financially that nothing out of the ordinary will be able to injure it to any considerable extent. It will differ materially from other societies formed along similar lines and for the same purpose in that the members will not be made to adopt any strange or peculiar beliefs or to wear any certain kind of uniform dress. Each member will work to the utmost of his ability and will live as he thinks most beneficial to himself, conforming always to the laws governing the residents of the community. There will be no accumulation of property or amassing of riches.

Immediately after conceiving the possibility of a successful community of co-workers preliminary regulations were drawn up which govern the entrance of new residents. According to these rules, life in the community will not be so very much different from that outside, although no laggards will be allowed, and no wonderfully rich men will be seen there. There will be no membership right in the community property, no division of community property among members, no right of survivorship. Particular stress is laid upon those clauses which pertain to the actions of the male residents of the community. All must work. The third clause in the set of rules drawn up reads as follows:

Every member residing in the community must work and labor diligently for the community in such tasks or labor as shall from time to time be assigned to such member, so long as such member lives with the community and is physically able to labor. Such labor is a necessary condition of maintenance and residence in the community. There shall be no liability in the community for compensation for such labor.

The fourth section relates to the children, and, according to this, they will not escape their share of the work very easily:

Every child maintained by the community must work and labor diligently for the community in such task or labor as shall from time to time be assigned to such child, and as long as such child lives with the community, while physically able to labor, such labor is a necessary condition to the maintenance of such child. There shall be no liability in the community for compensation for such labor.

Every member of the community shall be entitled to the proper food and raiment required for the simple life Religious exercises will be provided, and there will be no variance between life in the simple life community and outside. Instructions will be taught from the Bible and common school education provided for the younger members. Although it will take a goodly sum of money to finance such an undertaking, the promoters have hopes of soon seeing the community a material realization. The land will have to be prepared after purchase, houses and schools and stores built, and it will take some time before the product of the labor of the residents will be ready for the market. In spite of obstacles, however, the leaders are hoping to be able to announce definitely in a very short time where the members of the new simple life school will be living in a year. After the plan is perfected and working in harmony the promoters think converts will flock in great numbers. It has no peculiarity to attract attention or to antagonize the adherents to the orthodox faith.

BOAT WITH GLASS BOTTOM.

For Use In California, and Sea Bottom Can Be Seen.

After a year of more than ordinary success, in which they found three glass bottom power boats unequal to the demands, says the Avalon correspondent of the Los Angeles Times, a company of boat builders has had plans drawn for a unique boat the like of which has never been known. Its capacity will be 270 persons, 150 of whom can sit on the upper deck under an awning and at the glasses to view the wonders in the depths of the sea.

J. D. Martin of the boat company drew the plans and purposes to have the new boat in commission by March 1 next. The hull will be 75 feet long and 18 feet wide, while the width of the lower deck over all will be 25 feet. The upper deck will be 14 by 60. There will be two rows of glasses fore and aft, with lenses 20 by 60 inches and an inch thick. One of the most unique features of the new boat will be that it requires no wharf at which to land, but will run up on the beach with its cargo and receive and land the passengers from a gang plank.

The most unique railway in the country and one that appeals to business men of both the city and country is proposed for Joplin, Mo., and surrounding towns. The feature of the road is that instead of electric power gasoline motor cars are to be used, which will not only save the expense of installing power plants and maintaining trolley and feed lines, but will eliminate the danger to life that is always found in WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our Regular Correspondent.)

Washington, D. C., Nov. 11 1905,

The national associations of hardware men have held their conventions in Washington this week and finished their business today with an endorsement of President Roosevelt's position on the rate question. It was a big gathering one convention representing all the big manufacturing firms of the county and the other of the jobbers represented by the men who sell the manufactures products to the trade and to the public. It was an important meeting in a way and brought together 1,000 of the biggest men in the business men in the business. Just what was the internal business of the two meetings must remain more or less of a mystery as both were in executive session and dealt chiefly with the trade arrangements which are supposed to be no business of the public. Two things came to light however which were of general interest, one the adoption of a resolution, almost an identical resolution by both bodies for a reform of the consular service "on business lines," and the other the endorsement of the President on rate legislation as aforesaid.

Now it may seem like impertinence for an outsider to criticise the action of such a body of men who unquestionably know how to run their own particular trade, because they have made a success of it and are all of them prosperous citizens. But their two resolutions were a fair sample of the action of the trade conventions which more and more make the capital city a meeting place. The railroad rate resolution of the manufacturers was passed only after a severe fight. It came near not being passed at all.

Reduced to its real meaning, it was simply an assertion that there ought to be something done in the rate line and that lacking any better information, the association thought it wisest to endorse the President and the attorney general have given their best thought to the matter and their conclusions so far as they have reached concrete form are probably wise. Put there was a large body of representative men who have to deal continually with the rate question, and there was not a single suggestion from any of them as to the practical points that such legislation ought to cover, nothing to indicate how they were effected or why any reforms were necessary or desirable. It was a body that apparently could have given the administration valuable advice of what is confessedly a knotty problem. But no. The resolution was as blank of practical suggestion as an iceburg is of herbage.

The two resolutions on the extension of American trade were equally childish. They simply stated that it was desirable that the consular service should be reorganized on business lines with a view to extending the foreign markets of the United States. Now Secretary Root has gone into the State Department with avowed wish to reorganize the consular service and he has the endorsement of Secretary Taft, just returned from an extensive trip through the Orient, that such reorganization is desirable. But the very men who ought to have had ides as to foreign trade and whose suggestions would have been most thankfully received at the State Department at this juncture, passed up the whole matter with the badly overworked phrase of "reorganization on business lines "which no man has yet been able to fathom the meaning of. There was not a single concrete suggestion in the resolution and there was no attempt to appoint a committee to get into touch with the State Department and offer advice on what is one of the most important topics of the day. Decidedly the two conventions missed a very brilliant opportunity.

A FUNNY SHADOW.

You Can Make It Roll Its Eyes and Move Its Mouth.

Here is a way for a bright boy to make lots of fun for the family or a company of friends:

Hang a good sized looking glass on the wall in one corner of the room and, having lowered the gas, let some one hold a candle in such a way that the light from it will be reflected from the looking glass on to the adjoining wall. This reflected light will be a parallelogram in form, and if you now step in front of the candle, but not in front of the glass, the shadow of your head will appear in the center of the parallelogram of light.

But your shadow, while it has the proper outline of your head, will be merely a dark spot, without any sign of life. What you have to do is to give it eyes, nose and mouth, and this you can do with very little trouble.

Having made the experiment just described to see that you understand exactly how the candle should be held to get your shadow in the right place, get a sheet of thick paper and cut in it two eyes, a nose and a mouth, all of a grotesque appearance, and then paste the paper on the looking glass so that the features will be in the center.

Now take your position as before, and if the candle be properly held the light from the eyes, nose and mouth will be reflected on your shadow exactly as if those features belonged to your head, with an effect that is both startling and amusing.

But you can make an even better effect than that if you will prepare two sheets of paper with eyes, nose and mouth in them, the sheets to be exact duplicates of each other. Fix one of these to the glass and the other exactly over it, but the latter must be fastened at only one place at the top, so that it may be swung gently from side to side.

Now get some one to sway this upper paper to and fro just a little way, and that will make the eyes in the shadow snap and the mouth move as if it really had life.—Exchange.

Physicians tell us that all the blood in a healthy human body passes through the heart once in every two minutes. If this action becomes irregular the whole body suffers. Poor health follows poor blood; Scott's Emulsion makes the blood pure. One reason why is such a great aid is because it passes so quickly into the blood. It is partly digested before it enters the stomach; a double advantage in this. Less work for the stomach; quicker and more direct benefits. To get the greatest amount of good with the least possible effort is the desire of everyone in poor health. Scott's Emulsion does just that. A change for the better takes place even before you expect it.

HOPE FOR THE SICK.

A VICTIM OF LA GRIPPE.

Mrs. Henrietta A. S. Marsh, 769 W. 16th St., Los Angeles, Cal., President Woman's Benevolent Ass'n, writes:

"I suffered with la grippe for seven weeks, and nothing I could do or take helped me until I tried Peruna.

"I felt at once that I had at last secured the right medicine and I kept steadily improving. Within three weeks I was fully restored, and I am glad that I gave that truly great remedy a trial. I will never be without it again."

In a letter dated August 31, 1904, Mrs. Marsh says: "I have never yet heard the efficacy of Peruna questioned. We still use it. I traveled through Kentucky and Tennessee three years ago, where I found Peruna doing its good work. Much of it is being used here also."—Henrietta A. S. Marsh.

THE CUNNING JESTER.

How He Got Back In the Good Graces of the Duke.

The Duke of Brunswick's jester offended him one day, and the duke promptly ordered the unlucky funny man to leave his domain forever. "If you ever come back on my soil," roared the duke, "I'll have you hanged on the highest tower of my palaces!" The poor jester ran for his life and remained for some time in the neighboring country, but at last he got homesick. So, after thinking for awhile, he went to a peasant and said, "How much do you want to take a wheelbarrow load of earth across the border to Brunswick?" The peasant agreed to do it for $1, and when the wheelbarrow was loaded he jumped on it and sat down on the earth.

Thus he entered Brunswick and waited, seated in his barrow, till the duke came riding along the street.

"What's this?" cried the duke. "Didn't I tell you that you should be hanged if you were ever caught on my soil again?"

"Oh," said the jester, "you're wrong for once. This isn't your soil. It comes from the county alongside of yours."

The duke scratched his head and thought for awhile. Then he laughed and said: "Well, I guess you're too smart a man to hang. You may stay here."

FINDS TEMPLE AT SINAI

Petrie Expedition Reports an Oracle of Semitic Origin.

WRITES NEW ANCIENT HISTORY

Evidences Found That Confirm the Story of the Jewish Exodus From Egypt—Facts That Show Sinai to Have Been a Holy Mountain From Immemorial Ages—Records Older Than Pharaohs.

By a series of bold and brilliant discoveries, the reward of arduous and sustained labor, Dr. Flinders Petrie has remolded the history of the eastern Mediterranean during the last ten years.

Spelling out the records of broken stone and shattered pottery, says the London Chronicle, he has given a new meaning to the word "ancient."

Greeks and Romans are now seen to have been mere moderns, almost treading on their own heels, while far back we look down a long vista of culture and civilization, lasting through many thousand years and stretching around the whole basin of the inland sea.

He and his friends have given us a new conception of history, a new reading of the modern world, a new idea of human growth.

They have literally dug out from the bowels of the earth, in the heat and solitude of exile, a new history of man.

Now they are extending their work farther. Hitherto Dr. Petrie's work has been mainly in Egypt.

But, like Moses, he has not always been on the best terms with Pharaoh, and this year a small difference as to state rights has led to an exodus.

Shaking the dust of Egypt from off his feet—happily without insisting on any plagues—Mr. Petrie has gone several days' camel journey with the tents and his workmen off into the wilderness to dig there.

Following closely in the track of his precursor in exile, Mr. Petrie has gone to Sinai, and the results of the season's work there are shown in a small room at the London university, in Gower street.

Briefly, these stones seem to explain why Moses and his people wanted to go into the wilderness, for here, close to Sinai, Professor Petrie and his workers have found what is little less than a sort of Semitic Delphi—a great center of worship, prayer and sacrifice for the whole Semitic world.

It was Niebuhr who first discovered that there was a temple near Sinai. But it might have been just an ordinary Egyptian temple to Osiris, Isis or any of that motley crowd who dog the days and haunt the nights of the modern Egyptian tourist. It has now been thoroughly dug up and has been discovered to be a Semitic temple, a temple for the Jews and their kindred races. It contains a vast number of cubicles for pilgrims who went to dream dreams after the manner of Jacob and Joseph and hundreds of little "Bethel" stones which they erected, even as Jacob did, to celebrate a really fortunate dream.

One most astonishing thing about the find is the discovery of a great mass of burnt ashes, the remains of many thousands of burnt offerings by other Semite visitors—perhaps from Tyre or Sidon or other parts of that great Semite world which was eclipsed by the rise of Assyria.

There are times when the explorer almost feels like an intruder. Suddenly the pick strikes against something, and he sees revealed before him the toy horse of some long dead Egyptian child, the dice of some Egyptian gambler who has long paid his reckoning, the marbles of some boy, the comb and glass of some fine lady and the distaff of some poor woman.

He feels like one who has broken unawares into another man's house and finds himself alone with the sacred privacies of intimate life. There are many such objects in this little exhibition—objects found in the Greco-Roman settlements by Drs. Grenfell and Hunt.

There are beautiful bits of glass and mosaic—scent and perfume bottles with wax stoppers, left on some Roman lady's toilet table—reed pens with sharp, split points, to write on wax; ivory hairpins, egg whippers, all the small devices of luxury known to an advanced civilization. These are vestiges of the last period of Egypt's long civilization, the eve before the long night of Arab barbarism.

At the other end, from the earliest dawn of time, there is a collection of the rudest flint instruments used by prehistoric man in the Nile valley and found on the tops of the hills at Thebes.

From a study of these flints and the positions in which they are found the Egyptologists are gradually deciphering an ancient civilization far back behind the earliest Pharaoh—behind the great pre-Pharaonic civilization that occupied another 5,000 years, perhaps the very first beginning of man. These flints belonged to men who lived at least 10,000 years ago.

Then the Nile valley was filled almost to the summits of the hills with a great flood of water, and man foregathered on the mountain summits, a precarious tenant of a bare world.

Such have been the results of past work, but Dr. Petrie's work in the Sinai district opens a new field.

Some of the "higher critics" tell us nowadays that no exodus took place. These discoveries at Sinai do not seem to support them, but rather to confirm a narrative which if entirely untrue is certainly one of the most amazing bits of convincing fiction in all literature.

Agricultural Experiment.

The agricultural department is going to try to fool nature, says a Washington dispatch to the New York American. It is projecting a series of tests to see if cabbage and beets and garden things cannot be made to grow as well under electric light as under the influence of the sun's rays. The idea is that with the use of the electric light and the heat it will give off the beds may be placed under conditions as favorable for the growth of fruit and vegetables in winter as in summer.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co. Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Good Looks and Appetite.

Too many women sacrifice good looks to appetite. The woman who would have a nice skin and a clear complexion must be even more careful in the choice of the food she eats than in the gowns she wears. Stoutness and thinness are both very often caused by errors in diet, and a sallow and rough condition of the skin may arise from the selfsame cause. Light, easily digested food, avoidance of highly spiced and seasoned dishes, pickles and pastry, the substitution of milk or cocoa for tea, coffee and alcoholic drinks, with fresh air and exercise, will do much toward promoting a clear skin and maintaining a look of youthfulness. Women forget that the stomach is the furnace of the body and that it must not only have proper fuel, but that it must not be clogged with useless matter.

Washing Silk Underwear.

Directions for washing silk underwear have been asked for. The same precautions that are used in washing fine woolens need to be taken with silk. Prepare a suds of white soap and fairly hot water, and add to each gallon of water two tablespoonfuls of ammonia. If the ammonia is strong use only one tablespoonful. Let the garments soak in the suds for some time, half an hour or longer. Wash by rubbing with the hands and gently squeezing. Never rub on a board, and never rub soap on the silk unless some spots are unusually obstinate. Rinse thoroughly. This means through two or three waters, the same temperature as the washing water. Iron when nearly dry. If the garments are very delicate press under a thin muslin.

MRS. SAGE'S WARNING

Financier's Wife Tells of Perils That Beset Leisure Class.

REBUKES WOMEN WHO GAMBLE

She Describes How They Squander Their Husbands' Money and Claims Rich Hostesses Politely Bully Their Male Guests Into Games of Poker. Suggests Work For Leisure Class.

Mrs. Russell Sage in an article on "Opportunities and Responsibilities of Leisured Women" published in the North American Review for November makes the following statements:

"There is an immense amount of feminine talent and energy wasted in the world every day. This is not due to the indifference or the laziness of woman, for she is eager to do, to accomplish, to go out into the field of life and achieve for herself and for her kind. But she simply does not know how. One of the most important movements of the day, therefore, is the reawakening of woman, the building her up on a new basis of self help and work for others. That movement will set loose an amount of energy and talent that will revolutionize our social life.

"It is absurd to suggest that women who have a talent for music or literature or art should be enslaved by domestic drudgery, while the struggle for the civilization of the world is going on."

Mrs. Sage thinks selfishness and idleness great sources of danger. She thinks women's laxity toward drinking and smoking is injurious. At a dinner she recently attended, she says, "it was put to a vote whether or not smoking should be indulged in. The ladies present, not wishing to be obnoxious, voted 'Yes,' I being the only one that voted 'No.' The result was that the men indulged their love for tobacco to the discomfort of almost all the women present and the nausea of some of them. This sort of thing is remotely responsible for the cigarette smoking habit among reputable young women. They indulge in order to affiliate with young men and be considered 'good fellows.'

"Drinking is indulged in to an appalling extent by women of the wealthy idle class, and their daughters are following in their footsteps. The great danger of this is that the idle rich class influences the succeeding strata of society. This class is surrounded with a certain glamour that those not so high up in the so called 'social scale' mistake for something genuine, but which is the veriest sham. Bear in mind that I refer to no set or clique, but to a condition manifested in all parts of the country. Now, the persons of this class are widely imitated. If they drink it is considered smart to do so, and others follow suit. If they smoke cigarettes other girls do the same."

Mrs. Sage denounces gambling as one of the "inevitable concomitants of idle extravagant life." She tells of hostesses politely bullying men into games of poker or bridge whist and making them pay dearly. She adds:

"The trouble is that the wives of many men in this class squander in gambling and other forms of dissipation the money their husbands give them for household expenses and are compelled to resort to just such measures to make up the deficit, lest their husbands find out the true state of affairs and adopt drastic measures to correct them.

"Week end parties have bridge whist as a sole purpose. Rooms are hired and furnished in all parts of New York city by fashionable young women who do nothing but gamble there. I was sitting in my carriage not long ago, and, seeing a young friend of whom I am fond walking up the avenue, I invited her to drive with me. But she waved her hand and exclaimed: 'I can't today. I've been losing at euchre, and now I'm going to make it up at bridge.' And she hurried on.

"The idle rich are no more vicious than the idle poor, but they are much more lacking in sympathy with one another."

Mrs. Sage recommends women of leisure to apply themselves to missionary work in improving towns and villages. She says:

"In our great cities many women are necessarily lonely or are forced into vicious society. And this loneliness is not ameliorated by attending balls and other entertainments. It is unfortunate that men of small means, having to attend business, must leave their wives much alone in hotels and boarding houses. It is not woman's nature to be philosophically resigned to solitude. She must have society, preferably good, but she must have society.

"An inexperienced man is apt to neglect his wife and still expect her to be chaste as Lucrece. There is a great field for work among the unemployed wives of salaried men. If the idle rich woman would only learn to look upon her sister of this class as the daughter of a woman like herself, coequal with her before God, she would take her by the hand and draw her out from her solitude and by so doing reap a reward in the unfolding of her own character."

Mrs. Sage very earnestly declares that the only remedy for the social evil in our communities is by educating boys and girls to one standard of morality.

HOW OTHERS SEE US.

Austrian's Account of Noble Simplicity of the White House.

A description by a foreigner of President Roosevelt and the White House was recently communicated to the Vienese public by Hofrat Dr. Jacob Mieor, who is publishing the records of his American travels in the columns of the Neue Freie Presse of Vienna.

"The White House in Washington," says the court doctor, "will always remain something never to be forgotten, not only on account of the honor paid us by the president at our reception, but also on account of its noble simplicity and the grand style in which it is furnished. It is the true pattern of an American house, in which everything necessary is close at hand, but in which there is nothing superfluous. And with what simple formalities was our reception by the president carried out—a somewhat numerous but noiseless company of attendants in the anteroom and no police, no military! In the reception room itself there was no one present but we ourselves, the visitors, introduced by the president and vice president. Soon the doors open, and Roosevelt appears between two civilians, evidently secretaries—adjutants, perhaps, I should say.

"He showed great animation in his answer to the president of congress, who first addressed him, leaning forward, with his right foot well advanced, gesticulating vivaciously and articulating his words sharply, almost snapping his teeth together while speaking. The impression one at once feels from him is that of some elemental force of nature, and this feeling is increased when the ordinary round of visitors with its accompanying handshakings is begun, something corresponding to what is known in the style of European courts as a cercle. Only here it is not merely a case of a question put by the audience giver and a more or less sensible answer returned by the person receiving the audience. A very animated conversation is often developed, into which the president draws those who stand around him or the adjutants by his side. Very soon he is heard laughing a bit too loudly; now he gives a man a hearty clap on the shoulder that is almost audible; then again he brings his hands together with a smack. There is nothing in the way of majesty about him; one feels that he 'lets himself go' completely and then again remarks that behind this almost savage nature force is concealed a consummate diplomatist. The president addressed me with a foreign accent, but said, in faultlessly correct German, 'I don't speak a word of German, it is true, but I read German a great deal and like German poetry beyond anything.'"

MANY WOLVES IN VERMONT.

Animals Becoming So Thick and Bold That Farmers Are Alarmed.

Much to the astonishment and anxiety of residents of Windsor, Rutland, Orange and Washington counties, in Vermont, wolves are making their appearance this fall, and in several regions town hunts have been organized to rid the communities of the dangerous beasts, says a special dispatch from Northfield, Vt., to the New York World. Thus far several have been killed, but they continue to increase.

For many years wolves have been considered extinct, and when a Grafton man declared he saw one three years ago the report was taken with a grain of salt. This so incensed the Grafton man that he spent a week hunting the animal and finally brought it to the village in triumph, where it was seen to be a genuine specimen. Since then the wolves have been breeding, and farmers fear that they will soon become mighty troublesome unless measures are promptly taken to exterminate them.

The increase is laid to the fact that a few years ago the wolves were driven southward from Canada and because the state decided about this time to remove the bounty on all noxious animals. Then, too, deer have been increasing, and young fawns make excellent feeding for lone wolves. When the animals travel in packs they have no difficulty in overcoming a buck.

Within the last few weeks wolves have been seen in Barnard, Waitsfield, Grafton, Gayesville, Chittenden, Pittsfield and in several other towns. In three instances they have been killed, but in the others they escaped. Last spring a farmer named Purdy, who lives in Northam, found in the woods near his place what he thought were two shepherd puppies. They were about three weeks old, and he had no difficulty in catching them. He had the little fellows in his arms and was starting home with them when he was ferociously attacked by an old she wolf and was badly bitten in the leg before he could beat the beast off.

This is the only case where a wolf has attacked a man, but two children have been set upon, and countless sheep have been killed. For a time the town authorities laid the depredations to dogs, and it is believed that they paid damages in several instances where wolves were to blame. For the most part the wolves keep well back in the mountains during the daytime, coming down to the pastures only at night. This makes hunting them extremely difficult and accounts for the small success the farmers have had in exterminating them. Up to the present they have not become numerous enough to hunt in packs, but they will shortly unless some concerted action be taken to kill them off. Concern is felt for children in the remote districts, who frequently have to travel over long, lonesome woodland stretches in order to reach the district schools.

WIDOW LED RIOTERS.

Woman in Scarlet at Head of Mob in Reval Killed by Soldiers.

William T. Stead, fresh from Russia by way of Finland and Copenhagen, while in Berlin told his vivid impressions of the things that he had seen and heard and of the "ghastly welter into which Russian society has drifted." Mr. Stead said:

"Strange things are happening. Think of the incidents at Reval. Some determined persons marched down the street to the town hall, followed by a crowd. There the mayor and councilmen were sitting, deliberating on the situation. In came our determined friends.

"'We demand,' they said, 'we demand liberty, universal suffrage and the right to rule ourselves.'

"'But,' said the mayor, 'I cannot give you these things. I would gladly send your petition to the emperor.'

"'Well,' continued the delegates, 'we are delegates of a revolution, and if we do not get what we want we have decided to burn the city. Give us 7,500 rubles!'

"The mayor and his colleagues thought it was better to pay the 7,500 rubles than have the city burned, so they raised the money, paid the delegates, and the latter went away, promising to be very good, and they were good. But another crowd came and said:

"'What about us? Pay us too.'

"This the mayor would not do, and they went away with threats of destruction.

"The 'Red Virgin' of the French commune was Louise Michel. Well, in Reval a certain widow named Linde, dressed in scarlet from top to toe and with an ax over her shoulder, placed herself at the head of the mob. All night the revolutionists whetted themselves up. In the meantime the governor had got out troops, and the mob gathered in the morning, facing the soldiers in the great square. The governor called on the mob to disperse and said that if after fifteen minutes they did not disperse he would order the troops to fire. Five minutes went by, and the Widow Linde, in red, climbed a lamppost and cried out encouragement and exhorted steadfastness for the revolution. The soldiers began to call out to the people to go away, as if they were ordered to fire they must do so, and they did not want to kill anybody.

"'Kill him! Kill him!' screamed the Widow Linde, pointing to the governor.

"Several revolver shots were fired from the crowd, but no one was hit. The governor, who waited to the end of the fifteen minutes, then gave the command to fire, and the Widow Linde, shot through the body, fell to the ground as Baron Euxull, an eyewitness told me, 'like a sparrow from a twig.'

"One hundred and five dead persons were picked up from the square and thirty more died in the hospitals."

Gigantic Cunard Rudders.

The rudders of the two new giant Cunarders which are being built at Clydebank and Wellsend weigh seventy tons each. When completed and fitted the rudder, stern frame and brackets will weigh 220 tons.

New Type of Street Car.

Montreal has a new type of railway car, says the Toronto Mail and Empire. The passenger enters at the rear end and passes through a doorway, where the conductor in a species of ticket office collects the fare. It is stated that the company gathers in 25 per cent more fares in this car than it did in the old type. This is one of those reforms that street railway companies find out for themselves.

CAPTIVATED BY CHOATE.

Ex-Ambassador's Diplomacy When Boys Menaced His Disabled Auto.

Score one more to the list of Joseph H. Choate's diplomatic triumphs, says a special dispatch from Great Barrington, Mass., to the New York World. It was accomplished while the ex-ambassador to the court of St. James sat by the roadside the other afternoon gazing upon his disabled automobile. His country place in Stockbridge, Mass., was several miles distant, entirely too far to walk. Night was creeping on apace.

Small boys drew near by ones and twos. They like not the rich man's auto, out of whose way they have to dodge. They have even been known to throw stones. Here was a crippled bark, and the captain, sitting on the bank, afforded a fair mark.

Disparaging remarks soon were heard from the gathering clan. The auto was vilified, the chauffeur lying beneath the machine trying to make repairs was ridiculed, and then the foe turned its fire of words on "the guy sitting down." Hotter and hotter grew the blast of irrelevant comment. Mr. Choate moved about uneasily. Then he arose with all the grace which has won the admiration of distinguished statesmen.

"Don't go, boys," he said cheerily as signs of retreat were manifest. He held the attention of the little army from the outset. He told incident after incident until mouths were opened and little eyes shone as big as saucers. The address terminated with an appeal in behalf of good citizenship.

A later comer recognized the speaker as Mr. Choate, and the word was quickly passed. The ex-ambassador, his audience completely won over, stepped into the car and sped swiftly away. Back of him in the roadway he could hear the little clan yelling, "Rah for Choate!" until he was out of earshot.

As Seen by Speech to Him.

"Now, dear," said Mr. Polkley, who had just been accepted, "when shall I speak to your father?"

"You needn't bother," replied the dear girl. "Pa said he'd speak to you tomorrow if you didn't speak to me tonight."—Philadelphia Ledger.

EXCURSIONS TO THE WEST

To the Pacific Coast—to California, Oregon, Washington—round-trip, long transit and return limits, liberal stop-over privileges.

The rate is practically on the basis of one fare for the round trip. Of course, if you wish to visit both California and Oregon or Washington, the cost is slightly more.

These reduced rates are in effect on certain dates in months of May to October, inclusive. They apply from all Eastern points via Chicago, St. Louis or Memphis gateways. The Rock Island System will take you up in either Chicago or St. Louis, or at hundreds of other Middle West points and carry you to the Coast in through Standard or Tourist Sleepers with unexcelled Dining Car service. The Rock Island also affords a choice of routes: on the "Scenic" route you can stop off in Colorado—see Salt Lake City—visit Yellowstone National Park; on the "Southern" route you can go via El Paso, thru New Mexico, then "up coast" to San Francisco and on to Portland or Seattle if desired.

In short, these Pacific Coast excursions offer an unusually good chance to see our western country in a comprehensive manner.

If you desire to go only as far as Colorado, there are excursion rates in effect to that section and return, all summer long, specially reduced June 30 to July 4, August 12 and 13, and August 30 to September 4. Extension trips to Ogden or Salt Lake and return at low cost also.

Read!

In the New York Family Story Paper Charlotte May Kingsley's great romance An American Girl; or Hearts and Coronets. The subject deals with the one brought into prominence only lately by Andrew Carnegie's remark that he would not care to have a worthless British Duke marry into his family. Mrs. Kingsley depicts the American Girl true to life with all of a real American girl's abhorrence of being bartered for a title. This splendid serial begins in No. 1654 of The New York Family Story Paper. To enable all to read this fascinating romance we will send you a copy of the paper, containing the opening instalment, free of all charge. Send your name and address on a postal card to The New York Family Story Paper, 24-26 Vandewater street, New York city.

To Asthma Sufferers.

Lawson Elviege, of Barrington, Ill., says he was cured of chronic asthma of long standing by Foleys Honey and Tar. It gives positive relief in all cases o. asthma, so this disease, when not completely cured, is robbed of all its terrors by this great remedy. C. M. Parrish.

The blood is strained and purified by the kidneys. No hope of health while the kidneys are wrong. Foley's Kidney pure will make healthy kidneys and Cure blood C. M. Parrish.

A lazy liver may be only a tired liver, or a starved liver. A stick is all right for the back of a lazy man. But it would be a savage as well as a stupid thing to beat a weary man or a starving man because he lagged in his work. So in treating the lagging liver it is a great mistake to lash it with drastic drugs. In ninety-nine cases out of a hundred a torpid or sluggish liver is but a sympton of an ill-nourished body, whose organs are weary with overwork. Let your liver alone. Start with the stomach and its allied organs of digestion and nutrition Put them in proper working order and see how quickly your liver will become active and energetic. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has made many marvelous cures of "liver trouble" by its wonderful control of the organs of digestions and nutrition. It restores the normal activity of the stomach, increases the secretions of the blood making glands, cleanses the system from poisonous accumulations, and so relieves the liver of the burdens imposed upon it by the defection of other organs.

COLLEGE BOYS MUST SWIM.

New Order Makes Swimming Requirement For Graduation.

"In view of the fact that recent wars have conclusively demonstrated that a soldier who cannot swim is so much dead timber in the command, and the United States now refuses to graduate from West Point or Annapolis cadets who are unable to swim, no student will be credited with a passing mark for the spring term's drill who has not previously passed an examination in swimming satisfactory to the professor of physical culture."

This order, recently issued by Captain Frank A. Barton, commandant of the corps of cadets of Cornell university, practically makes swimming a requirement for graduation from Cornell, says a special dispatch from Ithaca, N. Y., to the New York Globe. Military drill is required of all male students in four year courses.

The rule is thus far reaching in its effects and makes Cornell the only college in the country to require a swimming test for the satisfactory completion of its courses.

Orchid Craze In Chicago Society.

Interest in orchids is growing to such an extent in social circles in Chicago that it seems other blooms will stand a slim chance of being used for decorations this season. Mrs. Pullman is an enthusiast and has an orchid collection which for cost leaves a stable of thoroughbreds in the shade. This year's flower show of the Horticultural society promises to be the finest that city has had, and treasures in the orchid line will be displayed. Mrs. Pullman says that for the pollen dust of some of her rare varieties of orchids she has paid as high as several thousand dollars, and she expects there will be great interest when some of her plants are seen.

THE SECRET OF SUCCESS

"No, Sir! You cannot palm off any substitutes on me. I've been using August Flower since I was a boy, and I'll have no other."

¶Forty million bottles of August Flower sold in the United States alone since its introduction! And the demand for it is still growing. Isn't that a fine showing of success? Don't it prove that August Flower has had unfailing success in the cure of indigestion and dyspepsia—the worst enemies of health and happiness?

¶Does it not afford the best evidence that August Flower is a sure specific for all stomach and intestinal disorders?—that it is the best of all liver regulators?

¶August Flower has a matchless record of over 35 years in curing the ailing millions of these distressing complaints.

SKEE CLUB TOURNAMENT.

Contest In Michigan Will Be Greatest of Its Kind In America.

The Ishpeming Skee club is already preparing for its big annual tournament to be held Feb. 22 next, says an Ishpeming (Mich.) dispatch. With the practical assurance that President Roosevelt will be among the many thousands of spectators at the course, he having conditionally accepted an invitation last winter to be present, it is intended to make the event the greatest contest of its kind ever held in the United States.

The tournament will be international in its scope. Not only will the best skee jumpers in America take part—and these include a number of men who have won fame at national tournaments conducted under royal auspices in their native land—but it is practically certain that famous riders will make the trip from the Scandinavian peninsula especially to participate in the Ishpeming meet.

The expenses of the foreign contestants will be advanced, and, in addition, they will doubtless share in the prizes, which will be sufficiently large to induce them to do their best.

The slide on which the skee jumping will take place is being greatly improved at considerable cost. The jumps will be well above the 100 foot mark.

A Woman's Straight Throw.

Miss Lillie Linville, a clerk at Anderson, Ind., has been declared a heroine because she killed a rat, while other women in the store screamed with fright when the rodent scampered over the floor, says a dispatch from Anderson, Ind. She cornered the rat between some barrels and some baskets. Then the rat attempted to escape, but Miss Linville quickly picked up a large turnip and accurately threw it at the rat with velocity enough to kill it. The scared women came down from the counters, seats and chairs. When her employer heard of the exploit he raised her salary and bought another supply of turnips.

ROSEATE COLORS!

In the Skies of the Business Men.

SITUATION IS STRONG

Seasonable Weather Has Removed Last Drawback and the Pressure for Shipments of Goods is Great.

MANUFACTURING LINES AWAY UP

New York, November 11.—R. G. Dun & Co's Weekly Review of Trade today says:

Each week brings a stronger business situation, seasonable weather having removed the last drawback and pressure for shipment of goods is so great in many lines that the partial holiday production is still further behind and caused much inconvenience. Reports of wholesale conditions are now practically unanimous and improvement in this connection is noted in many dispatches. Retail trade in wearing apparel and foodstuffs is the feature, while interest is beginning to be shown in holiday goods, of which very large stocks were accumulated in expectation of a record breaking season.

Manufacturing lines constantly established new high water marks of production, the present output of pig iron being at the rate of more than two million tons monthly, and this is one of the best known business barometers. Footwear forwardings from Boston are within a few thousand cases of the record established in 1903. The textile mills cannot make deliveries with desired promptness and building operations are phenomenal. A few small strikes are in progress but not sufficient to prevent the greatest activity in its history. Railway earnings thus far reported for October show a gain of 2.5 per cent over last year. Prosperity is also evidenced by a further rise in prices of commodities. The per capita amount of money in circulation is also at a new record of $31.69. Foreign commerce is fully maintained, exports from this port being valued at $3,147,998 more than in the same week last year, and imports gaining $1,028,954.

Beyond the fact that former conditions are accentuated, there is nothing new in the iron and steel industry. Demand for forms of heavy steel is beyond the capacity of mills, the railways showing an insatiable appetite for equipment, and building operations absorbing structural shapes as rapidly as they can be turned out.

Prices of hides have moved to new high records for any date since the civil war, and there is little difference even in comparison with the period of restricted production. The demand is now absorbing supplies so promptly that poor qualities of long haired hides are scarcely less expensive than the choice summer take-off Foreign hides shares the strength of domestical lines.

Failures this week numbered 183 in the United States against 213 last year.

A liquid cold cure and the only Cough Syrup which moves the bowels—wor kes cold out of the system—is Kennedy's Laxative Honey Tar. Cleans the head and throat and makes weak lungs strong. Best for Croup, Whooping Cough, etc. Children love it. Sold by Greens Pharmacy.

Over-Work Weakens Your Kidneys.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

All the blood in your body passes through your kidneys once every three minutes.

The kidneys are your blood purifiers, they filter out the waste or impurities in the blood.

If they are sick or out of order, they fail to do their work.

Pains, aches and rheumatism come from excess of uric acid in the blood, due to neglected kidney trouble.

Kidney trouble causes quick or unsteady heart beats, and makes one feel as though they had heart trouble, because the heart is over-working in pumping thick, kidney-poisoned blood through veins and arteries.

It used to be considered that only urinary troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

Home of Swamp-Root.

Don't make any mistake, but remember the name Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghampton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Garman was along with Dave and it would not be at all surprising if he cleaned up a small stake on the side.

—The best Republicans these days are those who quietly go about making the best of the present, letting the past go for what it was worth. Those who stop to lament over what might have been, had enough people thought, and acted differently the past few months, and especially last Tuesday, are so far in the rear of the band wagon as to be quite invisible. Dig in. Stop bawling.

This is probably the most successful half day's hunt of any two sportsmen in the county.

HELEN'S VERSE.

What She Recited on Her First Visit to Sunday School.

It was Helen's first visit to the Sunday school. She was placed in the infant class and kept very close watch of everything that was done. It pleased her to see the little ones all around her taking part in the exercises, and she felt a little neglected at not being asked to help.

Toward the close of school the superintendent asked for Bible verses. One after another boys and girls rose and recited beautiful texts. Then there was a pause, and the superintendent, looking over toward the infant class, asked if any of the small people would recite a verse.

This was Helen's chance. Jumping up quickly, she said, in a clear voice, such as mamma had taught her to use when speaking pieces:

"Jack Sprat could eat no fat,
His wife could eat no lean;
Betwixt them both they cleared the plate
And licked the platter clean."

Helen's older sister felt very much ashamed, and every one else was ready to smile, but the superintendent, who knew Helen had done her best, looked very much pleased as he said:

"That was very well recited, and the verse contains a good lesson. Jack and his wife did not like the same kind of meat, yet they got on very well together and wasted nothing."

Helen was delighted, and on the following Sunday had a real Bible verse to recite.

A Brave Hunter.

An officer who was out shooting in India was waiting at the mouth of a gully which was being beaten for a tiger. The tiger jumped from the jungle into a clear space about forty yards in front of him. He fired and missed. The tiger made a leap toward him and landed. He fired again, and the brute fell over killed. His friends, who were amazed at his first miss, understood when they saw him drop his gun instantly upon firing the second shot and seize a snake which had coiled over his arm. He had it by the neck and struck its head off with his knife. It was a cobra, the deadliest of the Hindustan reptiles. As he had raised his gun to fire the first shot he had felt it around his leg, and he had to choose between tiger and cobra, but killed both.

Conundrums.

Why is a street car like raspberries? Because both get jammed.

When is a prisoner like a leaky boat? When being bailed out.

What kind of a horse has too many legs and yet never walks? The clothes-horse.

A Certain Boy.

He doesn't like to go to bed,
And getting up is worse,
To washing, too, I've heard it said,
He's just as much adverse.

And for school and studying
When he would rather roam,
He hates it more than anything
But doing work at home.

I must admit that it is true,
Though 'tis a sorry boast,
Whatever he is told to do
Is what he hates the most.

I do suppose that if he chose
What he should do all day,
He'd play and eat awhile, and then
He'd eat awhile and play.

Miniature Autos on Bracelets.

Speaking of the trend of fashion in different directions word comes from abroad that one of the newest fads, which is unique in its freakishness, is the automobile bracelet, says a writer in the New York Press. It is composed of a chain made up entirely of tiny gold and jeweled motor cars. The lamps are composed of tiny diamonds, and every detail is carefully carried out. In spite of the value of the jewels and metals employed the real cost of such a bit of jewelry comes from the workmanship.

A Soup Hint.

All the tedious skimming and straining of soup can be avoided if one takes the precaution to put in a small unpeeled onion at the very start and permit it to remain until one is ready to thicken the soup. When lifted out, it will be found that this vegetable has served as a magnet to draw to itself all the floating sediment, leaving the broth as clear as crystal, yet in nowise impairing its nourishing quality.

Penrose's Prompt Denial.

This is Senator Penrose's signed statement which effectually nailed the lie, circulated for political purposes, that he had a stake in the Enterprise Bank:

PHILIPSBURG BREWING CO.

A Splendidly Equipped Plant in a Bustling Town.

The bustling town of Philipsburg, Centre county can boast of one of the finest brewing plants in Central Pennsylvania. We refer to the splendidly equipped new brewery of the Philipsburg Brewing Company. This company has been in operation since last February and has made a reputation for producing one of the finest and purest beers on the market. The building and equipments are entirely new and up to date. The building is three story high and built of pressed brick. The brewery has a capacity of 12,000 barrels of beer a year. They make 100 barrels at one brewing.

A visit to this brewery is an interesting event and you will be impressed with the great care taken to have everything clean and pure. Philipsburg's water is noted for its purity yet the water that goes into this beer is carefully filtered by an ingenuous system of pipes, known as the filtering plant. On the third floor the malt is stored, only the purest kind is used. On the second floor are the hops and here again the very best product is used; some of it imported from the old country.

The process of making beer is quite interesting as it passes through various stages of fermentation, until it finally goes into the large vats. There are ten of these and they hold 200 barrels apiece. Here the beer remains a certain length of time to ferment. No beer is sold out of this brewery under three months The brewmaster is Fritz Baldenhofer, one of the best in his line of business.

The machinery which runs this plant consists of two engines, one 50 horse power and one 25 horse power Then there two 100 horse power boilers They have their own electric light plant. It is a 100 light machine from the Western Electric Co. It lights the brewery, barn and bottling works, E. E. Herman is the chief engineer. There are seven steam engines, 6 steam pumps and an electric pump about the place

They also manufacture their own ice. It has a capacity of twenty tone of ice a day. The ice plant alone cost $18,000.

Across the street from the brewery is the business offices and the bottling works. In the business office you will find Joseph F. Weist, the general manager and treasurer and also the secretary, A. A. Graham. Both are genial gentlemen who are very kind in extending courtesies to visitors.

The officers of the concern are, President, Thos. Fleckenstein; Secretary, A. A. Graham; Directors, Joseph F Weist A. A. Graham, Fritz Baldenhofer, Robt. Lowenthal and Fred Weber.

The plant cost $125,000. They bottle one brand of beer "Excelsior" and three teams are kept busy hauling their product to market,

YOUR PLAYMATES.

Some "Don'ts" That Every Boy Should Always Bear In Mind.

Don't snub a boy because he wears shabby clothes. When Edison, the inventor, first entered Boston, he wore a pair of yellow linen breeches in the depth of winter.

Don't snub a boy because of the ignorance of his parents. Shakespeare, the world's poet, was the son of a man who was unable to write his own name.

Don't snub a boy because his home is plain and unpretending. Abraham Lincoln's early home was a plain and unpretending log cabin.

Don't snub a boy because he chooses a humble trade. The author of "Pilgrim's Progress" was a tinker.

Don't snub a boy because of his physical disability. Milton was blind.

Don't snub a boy because of dullness in his lesson. Hogarth, the celebrated painter and engraver, was a stupid boy at his books.

Don't snub a boy because he stutters. Demosthenes, the great orator of Greece, overcame a harsh and stammering voice.

Don't snub him for any reason, not only because he may some day outstrip you in the race of life, but because it is neither kind nor right.

Rules For Children.

Be prompt at every meal.

Never shout, run or jump in the house.

Shut every door after you without slamming it.

Let your first, last and best friend be your mother.

Carefully clean the snow or mud off your boots before entering the house.

Never interrupt any conversation, but wait patiently your turn to speak.

Never sit down at the table or in the parlor with dirty hands or tumbled hair.

Always speak kindly and politely to servants if you would have them do so to you.

When you are told to do or not to do a thing by either parent, never ask "why."

Tell of your own faults and misdoings, not of those of your brothers or sisters.

A Great Show.

The Burke—McCann Company opened a three nights engagement at Garman's opera house Monday evening to an audience that packed the pretty play house to the doors. The company is one of the best repertoire companies that ever appeared in Bellefonte and deserves a large patronage. Wm Francis Burke is a comedian and singer of unusual merit while the McCann children, Geraldine and Master T. Carroll are wonders. Their singing and dancing made a big hit and they were heartily encored. The moving pictures and illustrated songs were fine.

Oldest Voter in the Country.

Lacking less than a week of being one hundred years old, John Pierson, familiarly known as "Uncle John," of Swedesboro, N. J., went to the polls Tuesday and cast his vote, as he has done at every election since 1840. If he is alive next Monday—and at the present time he is in fairly good health—"Uncle John" will have passed the century mark. Mr. Pierson was a member of the state senate at the time Abraham Lincoln was president, and his only surviving colleague is Joseph T. Crowell, a Paterson editor. He is probably the oldest voter and the oldest Odd Fellow in the state, if not in the country.—Tyrone Times.

He is fresh from the foreign field toward which the eyes of the world are now directed; the great empire of China which seems like Japan to be on the threshold of a new epoch.

Will Drop Foot Ball.

To whomsoever these presents shall come greeting:

Resolved; That we, the students, of Saint John's school at Manlius, drop the game of foot ball after playing out the season, except among ourselves on our own grounds;

That foot ball as it is now played is more for college than for prep. school;

That professionalism and fake scholarships are largely responsible for the unnecessary roughness, slugging and demoralizing influences of an otherwise noble game;

That we endorse President Roosevelt's efforts to cleanse the game.

Adopted this nineteenth day of October, nineteen hundred and five.

World's Fair Queen is in Dire Distress.

Destitute, ill and forsaken, Mrs. Mary Lenhoff, awarded the grand prize for being the highest type of Jewish beauty at the Columbian Exposition at Chicago in 1893, is leading a precarious existence in Detroit. Her only child, a boy, Abraham, aged 12 years, is with her.

Twelve years ago she was married to Solomon Lenhoff, a prosperous Detroit shoemaker. But he disappeared very suddenly one night, and as no tidings were heard of him, he was believed to be dead. Late Christmas day he returned to his sorrowing wife, after an absence of ten years and eight months spent, he said, in South Africa.

Five months ago he induced her to sell all she had and with their child accompany him to Elizabethport, N. J., where he said he was assured of profitable employment.

Shortly after they reached their destination Mrs. Lenhoff fell suddenly and strangely ill. She says Lenhoff forsook her, refusing to assist her or the child. She was removed to a hospital, where she remained three months, returning to Detroit only recently.
